Protestants Plan County Church Council

By Paul Carlson
A TOP OFFICIAL of the Pennsylvania Council of Churches last night told more than 126 representatives of several area churches the time has come for various denominations to assert their unity in Jesus Christ.

Dr. Jesse D. Reber, Harrisburg, general secretary of the state council, spoke at a dinner meeting in the East Stroudsburg Methodist Church at which the representatives took initial steps to explore the possibility of creating a united Protestant voice in Monroe County.

Following his address, the group voted overwhelmingly to authorize the officers of the Monroe County Ministerial Association to appoint a continuation committee to further study the feasibility of establishing a county council of churches and to draft a proposed constitution.

A meeting similar to that held last night will then be conducted at which the committee will present its findings. If the report is favorable, individual churches would then be asked to support such a council.

Should a sufficient number of congregations approve the plan, a constitution would then be adopted and officers elected.

Emphasizing that a council of churches does not involve organic unity, Dr. Reber pointed out that it rather brings individual congregations together for activities which can better be accomplished cooperatively.

"If there is anything we must maintain, it is our denominational traditions," he said. "I want what each denomination has to contribute."

"But we can be different," he added, "and still be united."

At the outset, he observed, the very essence of Christianity is to bring people together.

"Sure, there have been divisive factors," he admitted. "But whenever we have allowed the spirit of God to work through us, the spirit of unity has always been greater than the spirit of divisiveness."

Recognizing the difficulty of the task, Dr. Reber sought to trace the movements which led to present desire for a united witness.

He noted that a group of students vowed they would carry the Gospel to the whole world. Then efforts were made to establish a Sunday school in every church.

Ministerial groups then began to be organized, he said.

"But the day of the associations are past," he declared. "We have come to another stage, when the churches must come together in their unity in Jesus Christ."

First of all, Dr. Reber insisted, a council of churches must be founded on what he termed the "evangelical principle." This asserts a belief in Jesus Christ as Divine Lord and Saviour, and a desire to come together in a fellowship to do things in His Name.

"Individuals cannot belong to a council of churches," he continued. "A council can never hold a meeting. Only official representatives of the congregations (supporting the council) can meet."

Henry Dismisses Veteran Officer

HARRISBURG, Feb. 19 (AP)—Col. Early J. Henry, state police commissioner, today dismissed Maj. Thomas F. Martin, Harrisburg, effective Feb. 27.

Col. Henry said he fired the veteran state policeman because "he refused to accept my orders."

Refusal By Israel Causes 'Terrific Squeeze'

WASHINGTON, Feb. 19 (AP)—President Eisenhower sped back from a Georgia vacation today to find himself and his administration caught in a terrific squeeze on the issue of sanctions for Israel.

On one side was an increasing body of congressional opinion against punishing Israel for her refusal to withdraw from Egyptian territory without nonaggression guarantee. On the other side, the Arab world—which the United States has been wooing in an attempt to block Communist expansion in the Middle East—was crying for United Nations economic sanctions if Israel doesn't pull out.

There were two major developments in today's squeeze:

1. A unanimous vote by the Democratic Policy Committee in the Senate against sanctions. Sen. Knowland of California, the Republican leader, and other members of his party already have expressed opposition to sanctions.

2. A declaration by Foreign Minister Charles Malik of Lebanon that sanctions would be demanded in the U.N. Thursday and he hoped the United States would support the move.

Malik spent an hour with Asst. Secretary of State William Rountree going over the Arab position. Afterwards he told reporters:

"In the opinion of the whole Arab world, and indeed of the whole world, Israel must withdraw unconditionally."

Malik also said gains scored by American diplomacy after the Anglo-French invasion of Egypt "stand in danger of being dissipated if the United States does not exert enough pressure to seek withdrawal of Israel."

Eisenhower went directly from the airport to the White House to grapple with the multiplying Middle Eastern problems. Waiting for him there was Secretary of State Dulles, who earlier in the day had given Israel assurances that the Gulf of Aqaba is an international waterway.

Dulles discussed the Gulf of Aqaba at his news conference. Since it is an international waterway, he said, Egypt has no right to interfere with the innocent passage of Israeli ships, American vessels or those of other nations.

He added he expects U. S. ships will go through the Straits of Tiran, the Gulf's bottleneck entrance at the southern tip of the Sinai Peninsula, without being stopped.

Dulles said Israel has the same right as soon as she pulls her troops out of Sharm el Sheikh, where Egyptian guns had commanded the straits, and the Gaza Strip at the other end of the embattled Israeli-Egyptian border.

Attack Lighthouse, Md., Feb. 19 (AP)—Three Navy attack bombers on a routine flight last night apparently mistook a Chesapeake Bay lighthouse for a bombing target. Their rockets tore gashings in its wooden sides and ripped away much of the steel frame supports.

Maguire Approved As Judge
HARRISBURG, Feb. 19 (AP)—The Senate today confirmed Arthur A. Maguire as judge of the Luzerne County Orphans Court for a term expiring the first Monday of January, 1958.

Maguire, now general counsel of the Pennsylvania Turnpike Commission, was named to the post by Gov. Leader to replace Judge Benjamin R. Jones, who became justice of the state Supreme Court.

Maguire is the brother of Dr. Frank P. Maguire, 229 E. Brown St., East Stroudsburg.

Agree To Share Canal

Bulganin Charges U.S. With Plans Of World Domination

Johnson Urges Senate To Adopt Plan

WASHINGTON, Feb. 19 (AP)—Majority Leader Johnson (D-Tex.) urged the Senate today to adopt the modified Middle East resolution and tell the Communists to "keep out" of that strategic area.

Submitted by President Eisenhower, the resolution was rewritten by the Senate's Foreign Relations and Armed Services committees.

Johnson said that in its new form it serves notice that aggressive communism will be opposed "not by just one man, and not by just one branch of government, but by the institutions representing the united will of the American people."

Republicans also got behind the resolution as the Senate opened what is expected to be a two-week debate on Middle Eastern policy.

Sen. Saltonstall (R-Mass.) said that while he thought Eisenhower's original language was more "effective" the revised resolution should make it apparent to Russia that "any aggression on her part will bring consequences which are both immediate and devastating."

Present Form
In its present form the resolution expresses the readiness of the United States to use armed forces, at the President's discretion, against any military aggression in the Middle East by "any country controlled by international communism."

It also empowers the President to launch a 200 million dollar economic and military aid program for nations in the region.

Johnson coupled his support of the legislation with criticism of the administration for the way in which he said administration leaders presented it to Congress.

No branch of government, Johnson said, should try to "operate on a put up or shut up basis" and ask another branch to "to it my way, or else."

Congress is not a rubber stamp, Johnson asserted.

Originally Eisenhower asked for specific congressional "authority" to employ U. S. troops in the Middle East if necessary. The House voted him such authority last month, but the language was changed by the Senate committee to delete any specific mention of a grant of authority.

Committee Kills State Stamp Plan

HARRISBURG, Feb. 19 (AP)—The controversial stamp plan of collecting the state's 3 per cent sales tax was killed today by the House tax-writing Ways and Means Committee.

Then the committee approved for a House vote next week a package of tax bills continuing existing levies at present rates. They include the sales tax, cigarette tax, real estate transfer tax, and levies on business and industry.

In another prime development, the Democratic Senate caucus and Gov. Leader deadlocked over the appointment of William L. Bait Jr., now executive director of the Toledo, Ohio, Industrial Development Corp., as secretary of labor and industry.

Request
A committee of Democratic senators asked the governor to withdraw Bait's nomination on the ground he is a non-resident, although a member of a prominent Philadelphia industrial family.

Leader refused.

The Democratic Senate caucus action became significant since both Republican and Democratic votes are required for the necessary 34 to confirm the appointment. The political lineup of the Senate is 27 Republicans and 23 Democrats.

State Contends Former Commissioners Of Delaware River Toll Bridges Subject To Laws

DOYLESTOWN, Pa., Feb. 19 (AP)—A deputy state attorney general contended in Bucks County Court today that four former officials of the Delaware River Joint Toll Bridge Commission are subject to the laws of Pennsylvania.

This was a reply to a defense claim yesterday that the four men, while operating as employees of the commission, were bound only by laws affecting private corporations.

The defense put up the argument in an effort to have indictments against the men quashed.

Funds
Those indicted for misuse of commission funds are Leslie Brown, Trenton, N. J., ex-chairman of the commission; Alexander R. Miller, Easton, Pa., insurance executive and a former chairman; R. Chapman Carver, Ivyland, Pa., former executive committee member, and Robert A. Haney, Trenton, former comptroller.

Haney is charged only with conspiracy. The other three are accused additionally of misdemeanor in office.

Bomb Fails To Silence Louie Armstrong's Horn

KNOXVILLE, Tenn., Feb. 19 (AP)—A dynamite explosion reverberated tonight through a municipal building where Negro Louie Armstrong's band was playing a concert to a segregated, white and Negro audience.

The blast, apparently from a single stick of dynamite tossed from a passing car, tore a four-foot hole in mud about 200 feet from the building.

Otherwise, it did not damage and barely disrupted the concert as the noise echoed through Chilhowee Park Administration Building.

"That's all right, folks," the Negro trumpeter quipped. "It's just the phone."

The explosion, about 10:40 p.m. came shortly after Armstrong and his four-piece combo and girl singer had returned from an intermission. At the time, the combo was knocking itself out on "Backo' Town Blues."

Few persons got up to go outside to look at the blast scene, but most of the audience of about 3,000 — police estimated there were 2,000 whites and 1,000 Negroes,—stayed put as Armstrong went on with the show.

Oil Official Defends Price Increase

WASHINGTON, Feb. 19 (AP)—The president of the Standard Oil Co. of New Jersey today defended as "long overdue" a crude oil price increase which Sen. O'Mahoney (D-Wyo.) estimated to be worth 100 million dollars to the company and its affiliates.

The oil company head, M. J. Rathbone, told the House Commerce Committee:

"If the price is not sufficient to encourage continued adequate exploration and development, America's economic health and security can be hurt."

The House committee and also a Senate subcommittee headed by O'Mahoney are investigating the effectiveness of the emergency oil lift to Europe and increases in oil and gasoline prices.

O'Mahoney issued a statement saying that the 15 oil companies operating the emergency oil shipment, including Standard of New Jersey, weren't paying much attention to "the economic effect upon consumers anywhere." He said:

Advised
"I am advised it was the confident belief of major executives (of Standard) that an increase of 25 cents a barrel in the price of crude oil would add 100 million dollars to the earnings of Standard of New Jersey and its affiliates."

Rathbone told the House committee he felt that statements made by oil industry representatives in defense of the price increase "have not been accepted."

Actually, he said, "we have a good case, a valid one."

He said he would furnish figures on the cost of exploring for oil and producing it.

In saying that the price increase was long overdue, Rathbone said "I believe it would have happened in 1957 completely irrespective of the Suez crisis."

Rathbone said he thought the oil industry had done a good job in supplying Europe. He added:

"While we have been working hard to help our friends in Europe over their difficult time, we have not forgotten our responsibilities to the American public. The consumer here at home is assured of adequate supplies of gasoline and heating oil."

O'Mahoney also said that the administration may have promoted "a conflict of interest" in letting the oil companies run the emergency program.

He said it was wrong to turn over to companies which had a "profit motive" in solving the problem.

In the Senate subcommittee hearing today, both O'Mahoney and Sen. Kefauver (D-Tenn.) contended that private oil interests had a big part in the administration's Middle East policy.

Negotiations Halt
PHILADELPHIA, Feb. 19 (AP)—Negotiations to end a 26-day strike of 16,000 employees of the Linde Air Products Co. were reported "deadlocked" today and there was no indication that representatives of labor and management were making moves to resume contract talks.

Deputy State Atty. Gen. Frank Lawley told President Judge Edward G. Biester and Judge L. Louis Rubin that the men are subject to laws governing public officials because they were agents of the state performing an essential governmental function.

Lawley conceded that the conspiracy indictments were technically faulty. He said he would move to have them quashed, but added they would be re-drawn and taken before another grand jury.

Racial Leader Fears Mood Of Southern Negroes May Change Under Present Setup

WASHINGTON, Feb. 19 (AP)—A Negro leader testified today he "cannot predict what mood might be engendered" among Southern Negroes if they do not get "a minimum guarantee" of constitutional rights.

Up to now, he said, they have followed a course of "nonviolence in the face of extreme provocation."

Roy Wilkins, executive secretary of the National Assn. for the Advancement of Colored People, testified at a Senate Judiciary subcommittee hearing on civil rights legislation.

He said Negroes have shown great patience, though recent months "have been marked by almost continuous violence directed at Negro citizens and groups in the South who seek elimination of discrimination and segregation."

Indication
But he indicated this mood might change if Congress does not approve President Eisenhower's civil rights proposals. These measures are "meaningful," he said, and would serve as a starting point for congressional action in this field.

In a move to speed subcommittee hearings on the program, Wilkins served as spokesman for 26 organizations allied in their support of the proposals.

Wilkins said, however, that the separate groups would ask to be heard separately should the Senate hearings develop "into a forum for . . . antilaw and order forces."

Two Southern senators, Ervin of North Carolina and Olin Johnston of South Carolina, debated with Wilkins for more than an hour at today's hearing. The discussion was without acrimony and Ervin told Wilkins later, "I have enjoyed this discussion with you."

Wilkins conceded, under questioning by Ervin, that there are some "Ghettoes of the North" in which Negroes are more segregated than in some Southern communities. But Wilkins said there are "some compensations" for Negroes who live in them—"they know they can always get out . . . and go to other sections . . . to a theater or a restaurant."

Sweden Film Beauty Dies
STOCKHOLM, Feb. 19 (AP)—A sudden brain hemorrhage took the life of one of Sweden's most successful film beauties today.

Marta Toren, 30-year-old star known to millions of movie fans as "The Eyes," died less than 48 hours after she was stricken following a performance of the J. B. Priestley play "Mr. Kelly and Mrs. Moon" at Stockholm's Alle Theater. She was a close friend of actress Ingrid Bergman.

Commission Accepts Bus Fare Revisions
HARRISBURG, Feb. 19 (AP)—Fare revisions of 11 major bus lines were accepted today by the Public Utility Commission. The revisions were made so that fares of short distance riders up to 50 cents will not be increased.

The amended fares were submitted by the carriers after the commission's action last week suspending for inquiry an original proposal that would have hiked all fares. The revised fares take effect March 8.

Raises
While eliminating boosts in fares of 50 cents or less, the firms will raise fares between 51 cents and $1 up to 5 cents and apply a 5 per cent increase to trips costing $1.01 and up.

The bus lines include Harmony Short Line, Pittsburgh, running in the Pittsburgh suburban area; Pittsburgh and Weirton Bus Co., Weirton, W. Va., operating in the southwestern section.

The bus lines include: Capitol Bus Co., Harrisburg, operating to Scranton and other points; Frank Martz Coach Co., Wilkes-Barre, with routes between the Scranton-Wilkes-Barre area and Philadelphia; Reading Transportation Co., Philadelphia, running between Reading and Harrisburg.

Lehigh Valley Transit Co., Allentown, operating between the Allentown-Bethlehem area and Philadelphia; Royal Blue Coaches, Inc., Clinton, N. J., with routes in the Allentown-Easton area; Edwards Motor Transit Co., Williamsport, operating mainly in the northeastern section.

Soviet Chief Bids For Arab Favor

MOSCOW, Feb. 19 (AP)—Nikolai Bulganin, bidding for Arab rejection of the Eisenhower doctrine, said today the United States has insane plans for world domination. These can plunge the peoples of the Middle East into the "hell of atomic and hydrogen war," he declared.

Bulganin called the Eisenhower doctrine "a colonial trap prepared by U. S. oil monopolies."

"The Arab people must display the greatest vigilance against the threat of this new enslavement," he said.

Communist party boss Nikita S. Khrushchev used the same forum—a Soviet-Bulgarian friendship meeting—to warn of other things. He called for two fold vigilance—first against "the intrigues of imperialist reaction" and second against past mistakes within the party. He urged particularly a need to "work tirelessly to consolidate the ranks of our party and make sure they are not penetrated by traitors and opportunists."

Harsh Words
Bulganin ranged over Hungary and a variety of other subjects as well as the Middle East. He had harsh words for Imre Nagy, who became premier of Hungary in the October revolt and was deposed by Janos Kadar when Soviet troops moved into Budapest Nov. 4.

Bulganin said the United States had hoped to shatter the unity of the Communist camp "and pick off its members one by one in order to impose their puppets—like Nagy and other vile traitors—upon them."

As Khrushchev did last night, Bulganin said Soviet foreign policy remains unchanged despite the Feb. 15 shift which displaced Dmitri Shepilov and made Andrei Gromyko foreign minister.

"We are struggling for peaceful coexistence, security, reduction of armaments, a ban on atomic, hydrogen and other weapons of mass destruction and for peaceful coexistence," Bulganin said. "From this policy we will not budge."

CD Head Aims Aid Failure

HARRISBURG, Feb. 19 (AP)—The state's Civil Defense director contended today the U. S. Government never followed through on a promise to provide 22 million dollars in disaster aid for the August 1955 floods.

Richard Gerstell told legislators, "the federal government expenditures have amounted to about three million dollars while the Commonwealth has expended 30 million dollars for flood relief and rehabilitation."

Report
Gerstell's statement came as he reported to the House Appropriations Committee reviewing budget requests of all state departments and agencies.

He told the committee the federal government promised 25 million dollars for flood work in Pennsylvania five days after the disaster in a meeting in Hartford, Conn., of governors of states stricken by the disaster.

DAZED AND FRIGHTENED patients of the Katie Jane Nursing Home are settled in emergency quarters in Warren, Mo., after the home for the aged that housed them was gutted by a flash fire. Seventy one of the home's 151 residents died in the disaster. The structure had passed a state inspection only a few days before.

Fred Ladlee Residence, Sugar Mountain, Destroyed By Fire Of Undetermined Origin

BUSHKILL—The home of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Ladlee, Sugar Mountain, was "completely destroyed" by fire here at 1:10 p. m. yesterday. The house was a two-story structure with garage.

Bushkill Fire Co. answered the alarm, but due to the mountainous and slippery roads, fire trucks had to travel virtually the entire distance in low gear. The scene of the fire is approximately two miles from the fire house.

Ladlee saw smoke while at work at Stoney Hollow, approximately six miles away. He investigated and found his own home enveloped by flames.

Albert Smith, chief of the Bushkill company, revealed that the flames were of an undetermined origin. Mrs. Ladlee was in Stroudsburg on business at the time of the fire.

Ladlee, a caretaker at Stoney Hollow, had his garage in Bushkill washed away by the 1955 flood.

The Ladlees are now staying with their daughter and son-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Schoonover.

Viewing the Screens

ACTRESS ILKA CHASE and singing comedienne Kaye Ballard and Alice Ghostley have been signed to play Julie Andrews' stepmother and stepsisters in Rogers and Hammerstein's "Cinderella" which will be presented as a CBS hour-and-a-half color musical Sunday, March 31. Others in the cast are Howard Lindsay, Dorothy Stickney and newcomer Jon Cypher. Gary Cooper, that TV holdout, may give in to "GE Theater."

Picnic—a series of suspense dramas which concern crises in the lives of various individuals—will replace Noah's Ark on NBC starting Tuesday, March 5, at 8:30 p. m. Too bad, as there are not enough programs of this kind for the young folks. . . . Program For Church Proposed PEN ARGYL—A program for the next three years was proposed for the Faith Evangelical and Reformed Church at a meeting of the church and Sunday school officers on Thursday night.

Rev. John H. Reese, pastor of Christian Evangelical and Reformed Church, Bath, and Marilyn Rader, Belfast, members of the committee of the Evangelical Pennsylvania Senate of the denomination presented the program. A film "A Stranger Returns" was shown.

Boy Scout Dinner

BOY SCOUT Troop 83 of St. Matthew's Catholic Church will hold a dinner in honor of their parents at 6:30 p. m. tomorrow at the parish. A. E. Torzillo is the troop leader.

Rev. Zuch Installed As Charge Pastor

HAMILTON SQUARE—Rev. Robert J. Zuch was installed as pastor of the Hamilton Lutheran Parish at the Christ Church last Sunday.

Congregations from the four churches of the parish attended the services. The parish comprises, Mount Eaton Church, Saylorsburg; St. John's Church, Bartonsville; Zion Church, Brodheadsville and Christ Church.

Rev. Zuch was elected to serve the parish beginning Dec. 1 and was installed by Dr. Charles M. Cooper, president of the Lutheran Ministerium of Pennsylvania and adjacent states. During the ceremony Dr. Cooper compared the installation to that of a wedding. He said "The pastor was being united with his people." The pastor and the people made their vows at the altar, both promising fidelity.

Choirs

Anthems were sung by the Junior and Senior Choirs of Christ Church, Junior Choir—My Lord is Waiting in the Garden, Gruber, Senior Choir—Thou Art God, Lorenz.

The congregation from the four churches will hold a reception for the pastor and his family at Saylorsburg Fire Hall, March 4 at 6:30 p. m. Members are all invited and a covered dish supper will be served.

Students At Work On Health Posters

STUDENTS in most Monroe County schools are now working on entries for a health poster contest.

The contest is sponsored by the Women's Auxiliary of the Monroe County Medical Society. Sponsors are the Medical Society of the State of Pennsylvania, and the local Medical Society.

The contest is open to all students in grades one through 12. It offers "substantial prizes" both at the State and local levels.

State Level

On the State level the awards will be two $100 prizes, one $75, three $50, one $35, one $30, one $25 and one $15. The Monroe County Medical Society will award four $10 prizes and two $5 awards.

All students still have plenty of time to prepare entries. A complete set of contest rules has been sent to each school principal. Art instructors in the various schools are working closely with all interested students.

Smithfield Taxpayers Criticize Delay Of Tax Equalization

Request Rapid Action By Commissioners

By Leonard Randolph

MINISINK HILLS—A group of Smithfield Township taxpayers and their school board president leveled a blast of criticism last night at Monroe County commissioners for alleged delays in setting up the tax equalization program county-wide.

Charging that the local equalization effort had been "turned into a political football," Raymond Hartmann, leader of an open discussion group consisting of about 250 township residents said that State Legislatures should also be censured because they have "taken the teeth out of the equalization law."

Hartmann said that it was up to the people of Monroe County to make sure that an effort is made quickly to get the equalization program underway again and completed soon.

"If all the people of the county marched in to the county commissioners and told them they wanted this equalization program finished, it would be," Hartmann said. "I think what the people want is going to have something to do with what the commissioners do."

Those attending the meeting took no specific action and made no concrete proposals. They voted, instead, to hold another "taxpayers' meeting" next Tuesday, Feb. 26, at the Smithfield school at 8 p.m. Hartmann will again preside.

Outline

In last night's meeting Hartmann outlined the dilemma facing Smithfield as part of the East Stroudsburg Area Joint School system. The jointure's building program is threatened by low assessed value in its six districts. Smithfield's assessed value is second lowest in the jointure in comparison to its market value estimated by the State Tax Equalization Board.

Hartmann made two suggestions to the group. They were:

One—That assessments be raised, as nearly as possible, to one-third of the market value by assessors. This, he said, would consume a lot of time because assessors would have to go back over each property individually.

Two—That county commissioners be asked to direct assessors to "double" existing assessed values on all properties in all districts in the county.

By this, Hartmann pointed out, he did not mean "doubling taxes," since taxes are paid on the basis of millage rates. These millage rates could be lowered as soon as assessments were increased.

Hartmann emphasized that no one "pretends that this is the final solution to our problem—only a county-wide equalization program carried out by an experienced, expert firm of assessment authorities such as those previously hired to do the Monroe County job, will accomplish this."

But the problem facing Smithfield and the jointure is a split-headache because "if we postpone our building program we are going to have to pay thousands of dollars more that will be completely wasted."

Among the extra costs would be increases in the cost of material for building for labor, and for interest, he said. But the individual school district would have to shell out another $12,000 during the first year for added costs of transportation and other expenses if the building program is not finished soon.

The worst part of it, Hartmann and other school directors at the meeting agreed, would be that Smithfield—and other districts in the jointure—would have to go on "half-day sessions" to provide room for the pupils it will have to house. This means that half of the pupils attend school in the morning, with shortened class periods; the other half go in the afternoon.

Throughout most of the meeting, Hartmann and others stressed that Smithfield's "taxpayers' meeting" was somewhat like a "test case." It was the first in a series of proposed meetings for all districts in the jointure.

In the end those attending the meeting seemed, generally, to favor "thinking it over" for another week.

Hartmann and others, in the audience, expressed a hope that the Feb. 26 meeting would bring out a

Speaker Traces History For Stroudsburg Lions Club

STROUDSBURG LIONS, meeting last night in the Penn-Stroud Hotel, heard an informative lecture on the regulations of their organization.

The speaker was Fred Ehrgood and he pointed out that Lionism is now flourishing in 77 countries and political divisions, has 12,000 clubs and 542,000 members and is 40 years old this year.

The Stroudsburg club is 32 years old and now has 96 members, being one of the larger clubs in Pennsylvania.

Old Days

The speaker told of the old organizing days when any business or profession could have only one member in a Lions club and explained that this usage, proving unwieldy, has been largely abandoned.

He explained how memberships can be forfeited and how members can earn club trophies, through seniority, bringing in new members and through attendance. Older members are known as Old Monarchs and special honor applies to them.

Club President Harold Miller spoke about the coming Charter Night Banquet which will be held on Saturday, March 2 at the Penn-Stroud. He called for reports of committee workers and the need of pressing the sale of tickets was stressed.

Zone chairman Sy Katz, who is on the Charter Night Committee, said that the speaker for the dinner will be International Director

School Class Visits Kitchen In Hospital

MEMBERS of the "consumer education" class at East Stroudsburg Area High School toured the kitchen and dietary department at General Hospital yesterday.

Their tour was conducted by Mrs. H. T. Slaboski, head dietitian at the hospital. Mrs. Slaboski showed the students the complete kitchen facilities, storage rooms and refrigerators.

She also explained the hospital's new "paper service" system of serving meals. This system was initiated last September as a means of protecting patients through maximum sanitary measures and to cut down on the amount of noise due to tray-handling in rooms and corridors.

Special Diets

Students watched as trays for special diets were prepared. The dietitian explained the various needs in dietary provisions for individual patients which must be met in a hospital kitchen on doctor's orders.

Following the tour and demonstration, Mrs. Slaboski lectured on the "wise and proper selection of good food, economically, for a family" putting special emphasis on the provision of a balanced diet for school children. She discussed the grading of food and the way to buy food by classifications.

This was the second in a projected series of talks to be given to the class—including field trips such as this one—arranged by their teacher, Mrs. Suzanne Lee.

Protestant Representatives Name Committee To Study Feasibility Of County Church Council

Dr. Reber further explained that a council should be "an umbrella" for all of the Church's various interests. This would mean that a Council of Church Women, a Youth Council and Ministerial Association would all be subdivisions of the council.

Furthermore, he stated, there must be a sense of cooperative responsibility, which causes each supporting congregation to recognize the need for a good liaison between it and the council.

Dr. Reber also recommended that a council of churches be kept simple in organization. He further warned against making the mistake of thinking that a council can operate without finances.

"No congregation has a right to belong to a council without sharing in the costs," he stressed. "We must become conscious that a price is involved."

The speaker emphasized that each council is autonomous. The World Council of Churches deals with international problems, while the National Council is concerned with problems affecting the country.

As the State Council deals with problems confronting Pennsylvania, he continued, a county council would bring individual congregations together in a cooperative venture at the local level.

"There is no organic union," he emphasized. "We must not have a super church."

Making it clear that a council cannot promise to bring more money or new members into the churches, Dr. Reber promised that it could "lift your horizon and help you render services you can't give without it."

"The first business of any council is to help congregations find unity in Jesus Christ as Lord and Saviour," he said. "If Protestantism is to do its job, every man, woman and child must be faced with the opportunity to receive Jesus Christ as Divine Lord and Saviour."

Moreover, he said, Protestantism

CONSTIPATED?

New laxative discovery un-locks bowel blocks without gag, bloot or gripe

Constipation is caused by what doctors call a "thrifty" colon that, instead of retaining moisture as it should, does the opposite: robs the colon of so much moisture that its contents become dehydrated, so dry that they block the bowel; so shrunken that they fail to excite or stimulate the urge to purge that propels and expels waste from your body.

To regain normal regularity, the dry, shrunken, constipating contents of your colon which now block your bowel must be re-moistened. Second, bulk must be brought to your colon to S-T-K-E-T-C-H STIMULATE it to action; to a normal urge to purge.

And, of all laxatives, only COLONAD, the amazing new laxative discovery possesses COLONAD's great moisturizing capacity, plus COLONAD's stretch-stimulating bulk. So effective it relieves even chronic constipation overnight, COLONAD is yet so smooth, so gentle it has proved safe even for women in critical stages of pregnancy.

Superior to old style bulk, salt or drug laxatives, COLONAD neither gags, bloats nor grips; won't interfere with absorption of vitamins and other valuable food nutrients; in clinical tests, did not cause rash or other reactions. It's a physiological fact: Exercise tones your body! And COLONAD exercises your colon to tone it against constipation, overnight! Get COLONAD, in easy-to-take tablet form at any drug counter, today! Only 98¢ for the 60 tablet package, brings positive relief at less than 2¢ per tablet.

$250 Damage In Accident

SOME $250 damage was caused yesterday when a car driven by a 64-year-old motorist crashed into a vehicle parked on Sarah St., near the Eighth St. intersection.

Stroudsburg Borough Police said Frederick Spinner, Henryville RDI, was traveling west on Sarah St. when his car door flew open. As he sought to close it, his auto crashed into that of Frank Silvers, 29, Brown St., East Stroudsburg. Silvers was in his parked vehicle at the time.

Neither driver was injured, police said.

Women Want Advertising in Newspaper

In a survey, housewives were asked . . . "If you could have things just the way you want them, would you prefer newspapers with or without advertising?" 92.4% said they wanted the newspaper with advertising.

Majority Of Women Do the Buying

It's definitely a woman's market! . . . Most of the Sales Promotions and advertising is solely directed at Mrs. or Miss America. Women want to know the latest fashions, cooking devices and home furnishings. The Newspaper is still the favorite medium for obtaining Market information.

Decorating Most Important Operation

THE NEXT best thing to building a new home is decorating an old one. New paint can make old rooms look bigger, cheer up dark corners, lend fresh life to furniture, draperies and rugs.

Surveys indicate that more than 60 percent of all American families have become "week-end decorators," doing all or part of their home painting themselves.

The clue to the lift you get from a room you've painted comes from the colors you selected. The right colors can bring restfulness to bedrooms, sparkling freshness to kitchens and new beauty to dreary rooms.

As a general rule-of-thumb, plan your color combinations around some related group of colors. If yellow makes you feel cheerful, use it for your main room treatment, and add variety and interest with yellow-orange and yellow-green, either as contrasting colors on one wall or in your draperies or on wood trim.

Booklets. Most paint manufacturers have color booklets available that will give you basic color schemes in sufficient variety to suit your own taste. With these modern paint color systems, you can get any one of hundreds of tints and deep colors from your paint dealer.

It's fun to be a "week-end decorator" and easy, too, because modern paints have painting skill "built in."

If you follow a few basic steps, the job of wall painting can be done correctly and in a surprisingly short time.

First, cover the floors with newspapers or drop cloth. Then remove all electrical switches and outlet plates. Start with the trim around the doors and windows. For protection, speed and efficiency, use either masking tape or a trim guard.

Strokes

Whether you use a roller or a brush (four or five-inch) spread your paint on evenly, with sweeping to-and-fro strokes. Start each stroke where the paint is dry and work toward and into wet areas.

Start at an upper corner of the wall and paint an easy arm's length across, parallel to the ceiling. Then work down from ceiling to baseboard. Continue the same method across the wall, working in strips a yard wide so that you can come back and paint into an area you've just painted.

For baseboards, begin in a corner of the room. First apply paint to the center of the board, then work toward the edges.

When you paint the ceiling, paint in strips—the width, not the long way of the room. This allows you to join the next strip with the last one before the paint has started to set. Keep the strips narrow. Paint toward the light wherever possible.

Device For Saving Space

A GOOD SPACE-saving device that will work particularly well in your children's closet is to have your builder install a slotted strip on either side so that clothes poles may be adjusted for height.

In this way the usefulness of the closet may be doubled by the installation of several poles at varied heights.

Children can easily reach and hang up the garments on the lower rack.

Women Prefer Cellar Storage

AMERICA'S HOUSEWIVES prefer the basement to the attic for the storing of out of season equipment if opinions expressed by the Women's Congress on Housing represent those of homemakers generally, says the Institute of Home Designers.

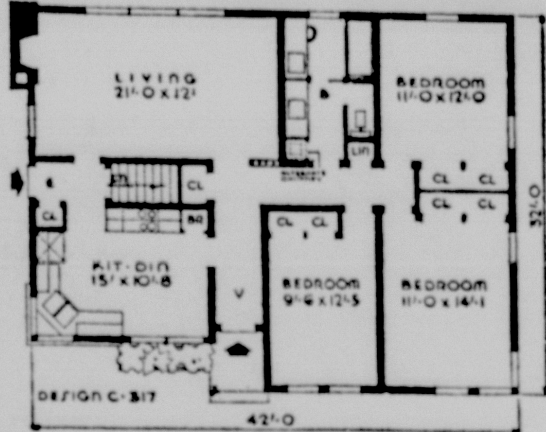

The Congress, sponsored by the federal government in Washington, voted against storage attics but demanded basements with separate entrances to the outdoors.

Easy To Construct

SLIDING DOORS for cabinets are easy to make with pressed wood hardboard. You can get it smooth on both sides and it takes an enamel finish like metal.

A SMALL HOUSE PLANNING BUREAU DESIGN NO. C-317

DESIGN C-317. To take advantage of an exceptional view or a flower garden, the living room is in the rear of the house with kitchen and entrance in the front. The kitchen is a large, pleasant room with good cabinet space, corner windows and generous area for kitchen dining.

There are three large bedrooms, excellent circulation and full basement. The interesting dual bathroom arrangement contains two lavatories and dressing tables.

The exterior finish includes vertical and shingle siding, brick planter, and face brick chimney. The floor area is 1,264 sq. ft. with cubage 24,061 cu. ft.

For further information about DESIGN C-317, write the Small House Planning Bureau, St. Cloud, Minn. In Canada, write the Small House Planning Bureau of Canada, St. John, New Brunswick.

Good Grade Of Dry Wood Should Be Used For Siding

IF YOU'RE planning to finish a new house with wood siding, a good grade of well dried material should be used. When the siding is being applied, it's important that all joints around the window and door frames are tight and that all corner boards are carefully fitted.

The same is true of mitered corners and spliced joints. It's also the greatest wisdom to end-paint the boards before they are applied.

Check

If your house is already built, check all joints and caulk any cracks that are found open. Cracked or rotten boards should be replaced.

Nails should be countersunk and, after the first coat of paint, the holes puttied. Diverter strips and drip caps should be flashed so there is no danger of water finding its way behind the clapboard.

Builder Keeps In Touch

DETROIT (AP) — Last Christmas Irving Rose, a Detroit home builder, sent $25 turkeys and gift baskets to families who had bought houses he built. "You never know when they're going to have more children and need another new house," he told a meeting of home builders.

On birthdays and anniversaries he also sends remembrances. "When a builder delivers the keys to a new house," he says, "it's a good idea to include a set of theater or dinner tickets. My buyers like it."

Keep Cement Unsweetened

PITTSBURGH (AP) — If you're mixing cement, keep it unsweetened or you'll run into trouble like that encountered by the R. E. Logan contracting firm in Pittsburgh. Installing ceramic tile walls in a bakery, the workmen were mystified when the cement would not harden sufficiently to hold the colorful tiles in place.

Investigation showed that sugar from the bakery had found its way into the cement mix. Sugar is one ingredient that prevents cement mortar from setting.

Keep Glue From Squeezing

WHEN INSERTING a wooden dowel into a hole, much of the glue will be squeezed out unless you make some provision for preventing it.

You can do this by filing a few ridges into the dowel ahead of time. Also, it's a good idea to make the hole a tiny bit longer than dowel. In both these cases, you are providing a place for the excess glue.

Homes With Cellars

NINETY-TWO percent of every hundred homes in the Northeast are built with basements, says the Institute of Home Designers. Many large-scale developers in that area have never constructed a basement-less house, and a home without a basement usually is a low-priced structure of the "summer cottage" type.

Build a Better FIREPLACE... that Circulates Heat

Heatilator's scientifically designed steel chamber is concealed in the masonry and actually circulates heat to all corners of the room and adjoining rooms. It will not smoke. It's easier to build any style fireplace around a Heatilator. Thousands in successful use in homes and camps—in all climates. Come in, or phone for folder.

Door Can Be Turned Into Bookcase

IF YOU HAVE a little used door in your living room, you can make a useful bookcase from it by a small expenditure and a few hours work.

Remove the door and hinges. Put a plywood panel backing on the doorway, and fit adjustable shelves to it. Stain or paint the shelves to match the walls of the room and do the panel in a smartly contrasting shade. A full-length mirror can be hung on the back of the panel in the room or hall into which the doorway formerly led.

Spot

A charming spot for the display of prized china and glass can be created if the doorway opens into the dining room by using glass shelves.

Similar treatment of a little used extra door in a bedroom will provide perfume shelves and space for the arrangement of various hobby items.

Planters Easy To Build

AN ATTRACTIVE planting box to be hung from chains, or suitable for a table decoration, is an easy project for the home craftsman who has a coping saw or scroll saw.

Use lumber of one-inch nominal thickness, or thinner if available. Overall width of each side, including the curved edge, is 16 inches. Overall height is 7½ inches.

Make a pattern on paper or on seven and one-half by 16-inch board, with one-inch squares, as shown. Draw the corner designs, using a compass and a French curve. Be sure to cut the slots exactly the same width as the thickness of the board, and exactly three and three-quarter inches long.

After cutting the curved ends, sand the pieces and fit them together to determine the size of the square bottom. (If lumber three-quarter inch thick is used the bottom will be 10 one-half inches square.) Cut the bottom to fit inside the side pieces. Assemble, using wood glue and six-penny finishing nails.

Cover Bark With Varnish

COATING the bark of rustic furniture with varnish will help prevent it coming loose and peeling off.

Once the process has started, about the only cure is to drive small brads or tacks through the loose bark into the wood.

White Fuzz Harmless To Cedar

HOME OWNERS who purchase red cedar closet lining for construction of moth-repellant storage rooms sometimes observe a white fuzz or frost-like substance on the wood.

Manufacturers point out that the substance is merely crystallized cedar oil, not injurious to the lining.

Air. It will disappear if the lining is aired for a short time; or it can be brushed or rubbed off easily, leaving the wood clean and bright.

Appearance of the "frost" is an indication of strong oil content in the wood. It sometimes occurs when the cedar has been stored where air does not circulate and light does not penetrate.

Hardwood Over Subfloor

IF A HARDWOOD floor is to give maximum serviceability and satisfaction, it should be laid over a solidly constructed sub-floor. Authorities on building point out. Subfloors are considered so essential nowadays that most modern city building codes specify them.

A well built sub-floor provides a solid base for the finished floor, helps minimize the possibility of floor squeaks, and acts as a barrier to cold and dampness.

Wood subfloor boards preferably should be laid diagonally of a room to lend additional bracing strength to the building.

Leaks Should Be Covered

AREWAYS AROUND basement windows that don't drain should be fitted with covers so that the areways won't fill with water and flood the basement.

The covers should be fixed so they can be hoisted up in good weather to permit light and air to get into the basement.

Why Not!

Why not let us show you how inexpensive it is to have all the closet space you need in your present home.

Glazing Surface Gives Mellow Look

ANTIQUING or glazing a surface to give it a mellow look, consists of applying a tinted glazing liquid to a painted, enameled or stained surface. The glazing liquid, mixed with a little raw or burnt umber—depending upon the tone you desire—is usually brushed on, then blended out with a piece of cheese cloth.

The uneven areas, where there is moulding or carving, are usually left dark.

Highlights. Flat areas are highlighted by removing the glazing liquid from them almost entirely.

Before beginning on a major project, it's a good idea to practice a little and develop your skill on an unimportant area.

Be Careful While Painting

WHEN PAINTING trim in your house, be especially careful at the points where the wood meets the plaster, wallboard or other wall or ceiling material where colors will be different.

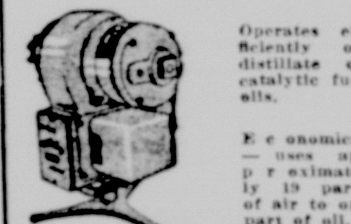

You can achieve neat results by using as a paint brush a cotton swab originally designed for nursery use. By painting in a thin line, the swab helps you avoid paint streaks on surfaces where you do not want them.

Flooring Gives Illusion Of Extra Space In Living Room

IT'S EASY to give the illusion of extra space to the living room that's too narrow by using light-hued rubber flooring in one of the smart new pastel shades such as chartreuse, gold or sky blue.

Then use a directional design in solid squares or a geometric pattern in gray, charcoal black or some other contrasting shade, where you need the feeling of extra width.

Harmonize. The new pastel colors in rubber flooring that harmonize so well with modern furniture are practical, too, even with a houseful of children.

It takes only an occasional wipe with a damp mop to remove surface dirt, so there's no problem about keeping light colors free from soil.

Win Fight Against Leaves

IF YOU HAVE trouble with leaves and dirt collecting at the foot of the steps leading from your basement to the outdoors, you probably can save yourself much work by installing a weather-tight steel hatchway over the steps.

It will keep dirt out of the passage area and will prevent snow and ice from forming on the steps in winter.

Mrs. Joan Reish will play the wedding march, and Miss Janet Snyder will be soloist.

No formal invitations have been sent but all their friends are vited to attend. A reception will be held at the Grange Hall in Stronville. There will be round and square dancing with the music of Norman Heinley. Mrs. Helen Moyer is baking the wedding cake.

Shawnee Fire Co. Aux. Gives $300 To Firemen

Shawnee—The Auxiliary of the Shawnee Fire Company at their meeting at the firehouse turned over a check for $300 to the fire company from its treasury. Mrs. Dorothy Walter presided at the meeting with 22 members present.

The stocking committee reported that orders would be sent in this week and those still wishing to order should call Emily Smith, 2084-J-1, or Audrey Balmors, 2086-J-1. The auxiliary planned a hakeless hake sale to be held at the Shawnee store on March 2.

Mrs. Stella Stettler, Mrs. Irene Walter and Mrs. Audrey Balmors were named as a nominating committee.

An insurance policy available to all paid members of the auxiliary was explained by Mrs. Arthur Smith, and the auxiliary to take it.

Refreshments were served by Mrs. LeRoy Walter and Mrs. Charles Staples.

Benefit Party Thursday At Pocono Lake

Pocono Lake—A benefit party will be held at the American Legion Hall, Pocono Lake, this Thursday night at 8, under the auspices of the Auxiliary to Wilson-Fischer Unit 413. Mrs. Frances Mayberry was named chairman of the party at a meeting of the auxiliary held recently.

An Americanism program was arranged by Mrs. Thelma Wilson. Mrs. Sadie Christian read "God Will Help You," by Norman Vincent Peale.

After the business meeting, Mrs. Pauline Dunlap, Mrs. Jean Miller and Mrs. Elaine Hanna served as hostesses to Mrs. Dorothy Smith, Mrs. Frances Mayberry, Mrs. Gertrude Renewicz, Mrs. Myrtle Avery, Mrs. Mary Dwyer, Mrs. Mary Major, Mrs. Bernice Dwyer, Mrs. Thelma Wilson, Mrs. Sadie Christian, Mrs. Helen Lukowski, and a new member, Harriet Coleman.

Just Between Us

—By Bobby Westbrook

Whatever my psychological faults on other days, I the week, I can always count on having a split personality on Tuesday nights. There are many ways to split a personality, I suppose, but one of the most effective is doing research on newspapers from the past.

Which is what I'm doing on Tuesday afternoons in the Historical Society basement. Yesterday I got fascinated by the flood of March, 1936. That was the winter we had snow up above the car tops, and in order to have their junior play, the East Stroudsburg High boys had to shovel out a parking place.

That was the year the snow melted all at once and the ice jammed up in the river and we had ourselves a real little flood. Nothing to compare to "The Flood" but very, very damaging.

Anyway when I came out into the February afternoon I had an urgent feeling that the river was rising, and it was sort of a shock to see the price of meat in the stores yesterday after reading the prices in the ads of 1936.

The Junior Woman's Club had just staged their "Movie Queen" fundango, the AAUW was about to create a sensation by presenting Dorothy Kenyon on "Cooperatives," and there were all sorts of benefits going on for the library.

Which made it a little difficult to make the transition to the present where fluoridation of water, agitation for school playgrounds, and rural teenage dances are among the current concerns. The new "profile" hats, however, looked familiar.

Miss Houston Is Bride Of R. P. Meckes

With her father assisting in the ceremony, Miss Merle Kaye Houston, daughter of Rev. and Mrs. E. T. Houston, 7 North Second St., Stroudsburg, became the bride of Roland Paul Meckes, son of Mr. and Mrs. James Meckes of White Haven RD 1, at 7 p.m., Feb. 9, in the Pilgrim Holiness Church, Stroudsburg.

Rev. R. W. Chatfield performed the ceremony in a candle-light ceremony. The church was decorated with white pompons and laurel, and baskets of white pompons and white gladioli. Russell Swingle, soloist, sang "O Promise Me," "True Love," and "The Lord's Prayer." Clifton Pritchard was pianist.

The bride wore a floor length gown of imported French Chantilly lace and nylon tulle with a chapel train. It had a mandarin collar and was embroidered with iridescent sequins. Her veil hung from a crown of Chantilly lace and miniature pearls. She carried a white Bible with a white orchid.

Miss Margaret A. Vogt, Lincoln Ave., East Stroudsburg, was maid of honor. Wanda Metzgar, Fifth St., Stroudsburg, was bridesmaid. The flower girls were Dorothy Mae Gearhart and Carol Lynn Warner.

The bride's attendants all wore gowns in winter shades of crystalite. Miss Vogt's was crystalite. Miss Metzgar's, champagne; and Miss Tallada's was seafoam. The flower girls wore miniature gowns in the same style of rose crystalite and they all carried colonial bouquets.

Dr. James Meckes, Jr., of White Haven was his brother's best man. Ushers were Jerry Blackwell, of Chester, Va., and Elwood Cameron and Dave Heimburger of North Chill, N. Y., college roommates of the bridegroom. Gary Meckes, nephew of the bridegroom carried the satin pillow on which the bride knelt.

The bride's mother wore a pink brocade dress with black accessories and a corsage of white roses; the bridegroom's mother wore a navy blue dress with white accessories and a corsage of white roses.

A reception for 100 guests was held at the home of the bride. The bride's mother was in the shape of a cross, decorated with white doves and white roses, and was flanked by tall taper candles.

For their wedding trip to Niagara Falls, the bride wore a navy blue sheath dress with white accessories and a corsage of white orchids. They will make their home at Roberts Wesleyan.

Sweet Sixteen Party Held For Miss Bitterman

A surprise birthday party was held for Carolyn Bitterman in the banquet room of the YMCA on Feb. 13, marking her 16th birthday. The table was decorated in the Valentine motif with 16 cubes of sugar suspended from the center of a large heart signifying "sweet sixteen." A bouquet of 16 red roses formed the centerpiece.

After games and dancing, refreshments were served including barbecued, potato chips, jelly salad, pickles and soda, and a lighted birthday cake served with ice cream.

Her guests included Elizabeth Zaccaro, Joyce Hay, Gail Frances, Jim and Bev. Kirk, Marjorie Bitterman, Ronald Focke, Nancy Bitterman, John Carmon, Patsy Treible, Don Pope, Carolyn Bitterman and her fiancé, Bob Richards.

Mrs. Ernest Treible assisted Mrs. Gordon Bitterman in serving refreshments.

Portland PTA Meeting Thurs.

Portland—Founders Day will be observed at the meeting of the Parent Teachers Association of the Portland School District on Thursday in gymnasium at 8 p.m., when the past presidents will be honored.

Theme of the program is "Opportunities to Guide Our Children." A program will be presented by the local 4-H Club with Mrs. Margaret Ide director, Mrs. R. P. Scott and Mrs. Frank Culver are co-chairmen. Mrs. Walter Emery will preside at the meeting.

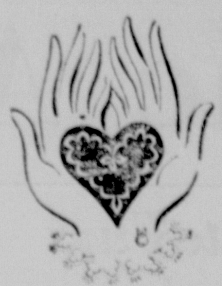

Public Birthday Party

The Woman's Guild of Grace Lutheran Church has invited the public to attend the birthday party tonight at 7:30 in the parish hall. Each person will be served refreshments at the table decorated for his birth month. Admission is a penny for each year of birthdays. The Pocono Male Chorus will sing and there will be a chalk talk by Dave Miller.

PTA Committee To Study Fluoridation Of E. S. Water

The East Stroudsburg Parent-Teachers Association voted to appoint a committee to study the possibility of having fluorine added to the town water supply as a deterrent to tooth decay, following a panel discussion on health held on Monday night.

The panel on "Your Child's Food and Health" was introduced by Mrs. David Mazzy, program chairman. Dr. Charles Ruchmore outlined the program for administering 5,000 polio shots to the school children of Monroe County and urged that adults, too, have polio shots. He also discussed the program of medical examinations in the school, as a means of discovering and treating physical handicaps early, and the importance of following up the cases to see that conditions are corrected.

Miss Charlotte Shupp, school nurse, also discussed the system of examinations or alternate years, and the fact that parents who could not pay for corrective treatment should make their needs known since funds are available for such treatment. She also urged that parents send their children to school with a good breakfast.

The question of fluoridation of water came up in the "buzz" groups into which the audience was divided following the program, and was presented for action at the re-assembly.

Mrs. Wendell Wicks presided at the business meeting when it was reported that the East Stroudsburg Parent-Teachers Association now has 388 members. Plans were also discussed for the square dance to be held March 2. Claude Heller is chairman of the ticket committee and home room mothers may obtain their tickets from him for distribution.

Refreshments were served by Mrs. Oliver Wilson and her committee.

Mt. Pocono WSCS Plans Projects For Coming Weeks

Mount Pocono—The February meeting of the Women's Society of Christian Service of the Methodist Church was held recently at the church. The president Mrs. Patrick Horgan presided.

The theme of the devotions, led by Mrs. Wardell McGargie was "Whom Shall I Send?" Mrs. Louis Ingersoll spoke of the financial status of the wives and families of European ministers.

Mrs. Alvah Merwin, and committee were appointed to make plans for World Day of Prayer, to be held March 8. The committee for the collection of donations to purchase gowns for the junior choir, reported a good response, and announced that work will be started at once, in an effort to have them completed for Easter Sunday. Anyone wishing to make further donations will please contact Mrs. Louis Ingersoll.

A program was presented by Mrs. Alvah Merwin, assisted by Miss Winifred Hay. They showed a technicolor film of the life of a native African Methodist minister, who in turn told of the great work of Melvin Kucik, a missionary, who during his life, worked very hard in many villages.

Mrs. H. Sharbaugh asked each member to become bazaar minded, during these winter months, by starting to make various types of hand work. Mrs. Horgan reminded the members of the bazaar sale to be held at the Mt. Pocono A&P store, Friday, Feb. 22.

Mrs. Robert Widaman was welcomed as a visitor, and invited to become a member. Refreshments were served by Mrs. Nell Colby, Mrs. Arthur Carey, and Mrs. Fred Brodel. The next meeting will be held March 13, and all women of the church are urged to attend. There was a good attendance at this meeting.

Chestnuthill PTA To Mark Founders Day

Brooksideville—The Chestnuthill Parent Teachers Association will meet Thursday night at 8 p. m. when a special Founders Day program will be presented.

One highlight of the program will be the presentation of a life membership to a past president of the PTA, Chester Stanowski.

Another will be the presentation of a skit "Alice in Founders Land" by members of the Polk Township PTA under the direction of Mrs. Russell Shupp. The play, given by the group at the recent County PTA Council meeting, scored a great success. Of particular interest are the costumes, ranging back to great-grandmother's day, and including some antique bathing suits as well as costumes of the flapper era, and a special Charleston routine.

During the business meeting, the matter of equalization of tax assessments will be discussed and school board members will be present. The public is invited to join the PTA for the program and the discussion.

Cranberry Bog Theme Of Program

The Monroe County Garden Club will feature a talk by Thomas Knepp, of the Stroudsburg High School faculty, at their meeting on Thursday afternoon at the Stroudsburg Presbyterian Church. He will show slides of the Cranberry Bog, and describe some of the rare plants in the conservation project to which the club has contributed.

Arrangements will also carry out the woodland theme with favorite houseplants and miscellaneous arrangements also on the schedule.

Mrs. Eli Travis and Mrs. A. Starr Phelps will continue their lessons on principles of arrangements.

THE Wyckoff SHOPPER

If anyone were to ask how I spent last weekend, I'd be forced to admit that it was spent almost exclusively in the company of Mike Todd... and before his brand new bride, Elizabeth Taylor, could object, I'd have to further admit that about two dozen other Wyckoff women employees spent their weekend much the same way. Mr. Todd is, as you know, producer of the unbelievably wonderful motion picture, "Around the World in 80 Days," which we saw Saturday as the guest of our boss. He is also the principal figure exploited in the Random House book, sold for 1.00, at the entrance... and on Sunday night he was a mystery guest on What's My Line?

At the moment, I am not sure to whom I am the most grateful... whether it is to Mr. Wyckoff, for his thoughtfulness in taking the office girls of Wyckoff and Sears into the city to see the movie... or to Mr. Todd himself for having the gambling instinct, ingenuity, genius, and wit to produce such a movie. It is undeniable that "Papa" and he, between them, have given all of us a never-to-be-forgotten trip around the world which we would probably never tour so extensively otherwise. The scope of the three hour production defies description... I can only say that after sitting for all that time, (right through what would normally be my lunch hour) I was amazed when the picture drew to a close. What had seemed in anticipation like an uncomfortably long span, whisked by with the speed of a night's sound sleep, leaving me personally uncramped, but crammed to overflowing with colorful mental pictures, many of them delightfully highlighted with fun.

Looking back, the entire trip was fun... fun... FUN! From the moment the last of us (ME, naturally!) scurried into the bus at 6:45 Saturday morning, and "Papa" started out to his own merry vocal accompaniment of "Happy on the Way". Our store bus is a gay gal if ever I've seen one... always ready to leap off in pursuit of adventure laden with Mr. Wyckoff's girl or boy scouts, Tea Room staff office personnel, or whatever other fortunate group happens, at that moment, to be on the receiving end of his hospitality. And Mr. Wyckoff is the perfect host—no one could question that! He always says the very thing that will set his shyest guest at ease... he always knows the interesting places to go, the tastiest foods to order, and the very anecdote that will break the ice.

Not, of course, that any ice was evident Saturday, except perhaps in the New York weather! "Fasten your seat belts" someone seated over a wheel would shout as we hit an occasional "air pocket"... or "Oh come now—let's not take so many shortcuts." We giggled as we speculated what all the passersby thought when they looked up into the faces of 24 adults, sailing along in a school bus. "Bet they think we're awfully slow getting through," we concluded. "But it's a SCOUT bus." Papa reminded us, which may have altered their opinion to thinking that we were certainly a jubilant crowd of overgrown young'uns. We decided that Mr. Wyckoff should be called "Tim Sand" because of his harem, and we sang everything we knew from folk songs to rock 'n' roll!

In New York, "Papa" saw to it that we were stuffed deliciously with freshly made doughnuts and coffee from his favorite little shop... one of the many out-of-the-way places he has discovered and, in a sense, made his own during his years of "commuting" between Stroudsburg and the metropolis. "How does he FIND all these places?" we asked. And the answer would certainly tell us how he discovers so many of the wonderful values he brings back to Stroudsburg in unusual merchandise from all over the world.

Next to Mike Todd's movie, and the superb Chinese food of Mr. Wyckoff's favorite restaurant in Chinatown, the Bowers impressed us most. Many of us had never been there early enough in the morning to see the hundreds of happier

Pennsylvania Ducks Fly To All Points

THE TABULATION of information accumulated by the Game Commission on ducks banded in Pennsylvania, and killed in this State and elsewhere, over the past few months has just been completed. The following is a brief summary of the Commonwealth's waterfowl banding and band return program:

Waterfowl reared, banded and released by the Game Commission in the years 1951 to 1956, inclusive, number 38,703. As of Jan. 31 band recoveries reported totaled 4,811, or 12.4 per cent of the waterfowl released. The records show, too, that 88.2 per cent of the bands recovered were reported on ducks banded in Pennsylvania. Information from 28 States and three Canadian Provinces indicates that ducks released in Pennsylvania flew to all points of the compass—often to places far away. Here are the totals: Pennsylvania, 4,244; New York, 150; Michigan, 43; Ohio, 40; Maryland, 39; Virginia, 33; New Jersey, 28; Delaware, 15; North Carolina, 7; South Carolina, 7; Wisconsin, Minnesota and West Virginia, 6 each; Tennessee, Kentucky and Indiana, 5 each; Alabama, 4; Rhode Island and Illinois, 3 each; Florida and North Dakota, 2 each; and the following States reported one band apiece—Vermont, New Hampshire, Massachusetts, Connecticut, Georgia, and Arkansas.

Provinces: Ontario, 115; Quebec, 4; and Saskatchewan, 1.

Persons in possession of a waterfowl band are requested, even now, to report the number on the "bracelet" and the time and place of kill to the Game Commission, Harrisburg, or to any Game Protector. This information provides state and federal wildlife agencies with data helpful in planning waterfowl management programs and seasons.

Roseto Borough Approves School Jointure

ROSETO—Board of Education of Roseto Borough approved the new elements of the seven-district State Belt Jointure at a meeting Monday night. Bangor School Board is expected to approve the new plans at a meeting to be held later in the week.

The new plans call for the construction of a new high school building for grades nine to 12 inclusive and the use of the present Bangor Area Joint High School as a junior high school for grades seven and eight. It has also been announced that transportation costs will be paid by the sending districts according to the number of pupils transported. This is a revision of the previous plan that called for all districts sharing in these costs. Also that pupils will be assigned to elementary schools that are nearest to their place of residence.

Any new elementary school construction will be paid for by the districts requiring such expenditures and it has been announced that a meeting of all the directors of the seven districts will be held in the Bangor Area Joint High School on Monday night, Feb. 25.

IN ONE of baseball's usual fast shuffles, Harry Warner finds he is no longer ticketed for delivery to the Washington Senators this spring but instead to the Nats farm in Charlotte, North Carolina.

While the setback was somewhat of a jolt mentally to the likeable Redders resident, the pay compensation Harry will receive will top, by far, his best pay check since entering organized ball.

Warner, a first baseman with more promise than any the Senators have had since the days of Mickey Vernon, was informed by Charlotte officials of the plans instituted by Cal Griffith who was to be Harry's front office boss in Washington.

However, in explaining the switch, Washington still left the door open for Warner to move up sometime this year.

We don't like to chastise people who are putting their money into a project, especially in the expensive operation of a major league ball club. But Washington, which has been jamming minor leaguers of no note down the Capital City fans' throats since 1933 (the last time they won a pennant).

They, more or less, have been operating on a shoestring, since the days of Joe Cronin and Buddy Meyer.

They've had more also-rans on their club than our now gone Philadelphia Athletics who used to raid the Duke University campus every spring for a roster to finish the season.

Maybe that's the way to run things—they're still in business. But we don't think the wisest gambler would pick Washington to finish one-two or three in the American League this season.

The Nats need a lot of ballplayers, including a solid initial sack guard. They've been bringing humpty-dumpty up from their farm and have tried to convert shortstops into first basemen in a hopeless effort to bolster their offense and defense. But it was all to no avail.

Now that they have the chance to get a good look at a good first baseman—Harry Warner—but instead shuffle him off to Charlotte, Warner isn't getting any younger and the Nats aren't getting any better. Possibly a merger of the pair would do some one some good.

Doug Shook, the Stroudsburg High point producer who finished second in the individual scoring race in the Lehigh Valley League last year, has a good chance of repeating his feat again this season.

According to unofficial averages (not including last night's games) the 6-2 Mountaineer shotmaker has 228 points in 12 games. He trails Bob Milvey, who no doubt will retain his crown, by 87 markers. The Blue Bomber has 325 in 12 outings.

Just behind Shook is Ken Ishibashi of Stroudsburg with 219, followed by Hack Haucak of Northampton with 196.

In the Lehigh-Northampton individual chase for point honors, East Stroudsburg has two players among the circuit's first seven. They are King Beers who is in the No. 3 spot with 240 tallies in 13 starts and Jim Kindrew, owner of 205 markers, which is good enough for No. 7 berth.

Heading the L-N pack is Dick Hunt of Nazareth with 275 in 12 games. He is trailed by Wescoe of Parkland with 241 in 13 outings.

Stan Palys, who used to roam the far reaches of the outfield for the Carbondale Blues during the good old days of the North Atlantic Baseball League, received a jolt Sunday when his father, his top booster, passed away in Blakely.

The elder Palys died following injuries suffered in a fall in his Scranton suburban home.

Stan, now on the roster of Nashville in the Southern Association, formerly played in the outfield for the Philadelphia Phillies and Cincinnati Redlegs in the National League.

ESSTC Girls Seek No. 5 Away Today

EAST STROUDSBURG State Teachers College unbeaten girls basketball team will shoot for their fifth straight victory today when the Warriorsettes invade East Orange, N. J., for a tilt with Panzer College's lassies.

Coach Anne Vanuzia's proteges hold wins over Cheyney, Misericordia (twice) and Temple. Panzer is 3-2 on the season.

Miss Vanuzia announced last night that Lorraine Boyd, Nancy Diviner, Nancy Bohney, Joyce Fuhrman, Ophie Ennor and Loretta Schaeffer would start for the Warriorsettes.

Eastburg High Downs Bangor, 65-58

Beers' 26 Leads Cavaliers To 2nd Half Comeback Win

EAST STROUDSBURG High combined a solid defense and a devastating offense in the third quarter, to pull out a 65-58 triumph over Bangor in a Lehigh-Northampton League duel in the Cavaliers gym last night.

Trailing 31-24 at halftime, the proteges of Doug Schoonover poured in 18 points in the third quarter and held the Slaters to a mere five to gain a lead they never relinquished.

The victory snapped a three-game Eastburg losing streak and gave them a 3-3 record in the second half L-N race. For Bangor the loss was the fourth in six outings this half.

King Beers, limited to four points in the first half, really got the Cavaliers going in the third and fourth periods and as he finished in 22 points to take individual scoring honors with 26 markers.

Joining the lean Cavalier in the double figure column were Jim Kindrew and Harry Miller with 15 and 10 respectively.

Lead Bangor Frankie Butz and J. L. Williams were the big guns for Bangor, canning 17 each.

Bangor down 42-36 going into the final eight minutes just missed matching the Cavaliers point for point in the final period as Eastburg totaled 23 to the Slaters' 22.

However, Eastburg held eight to 10 point bulges in the final stanza as Beers, Kindrew dominated the boards.

Bangor's toughest problem was at the foul line as they netted only six out of 19, while the Cavaliers dumped 17 out of 33.

In field goals, though, the Slaters held a 26 to 24 advantage.

Get 1st Win East Stroudsburg's junior varsity broke into the victory column for the first time this season when Jim Wertheimer's, unflinching nipped Bangor's JV, 42-21. Prior to the win, Eastburg had dropped 15 straight.

Alex Sydelnik's 14 and Hillman's nine and Vic Alyn's eight paced the Little Cavaliers.

The varsity boxscore:

STC Matmen Face Ithaca Away Today

EAST STROUDSBURG Teachers wrestling hopefuls will be singing for their fourth triumph of the season today when George Ockershausen's tutored matmen face Ithaca College on the New York's mats.

The Warriors, 3-3 on the season, showed up well in their last outing against Brooklyn Poly Tech. However in the upper Empire States, the Ockershausen tribe will be meeting a much stiffer foe.

Expected to go to the mats for East Stroudsburg are Pat Reilly, Don Gravera, Bill Deibler, Art Berger, Jim Orlando, Bob Zarbatuta, Mike LaPorta and Bruce Hayne.

Bangor Girls Edge Easton

EASTON — Bangor High's girls team shot their way to a 51-42 victory over Easton High's lassies here in an East Penn League game yesterday.

Led by Kay Hughes 24 point outpour and Nancy Rowlands' 20, the Slaterettes tore into the lead in the second period and went on to chalk up the win.

Holly Hughes paced Easton with 20, followed by Lynn Fegley's 18.

Warrior Five Bows, 73-71 On Last Ditch 'Eagle' Goal

JAY LOUD's jump shot from the foul line in the last two seconds gave Lock Haven Teachers a 73-71 verdict over East Stroudsburg STC before a near-limp 700 fans in the Warriors gymnasium last night.

Loud's clinching bucket came after the Bald Eagles played for the one shot in the dying moments after the Warriors' Dewey Troutman tied it up 71-all with 20 seconds left.

The setback sent the Warriors of Jim Reed back to the 300 mark with a 7-7 record. The win was only the third in 11 games for Lock Haven.

East Stroudsburg, led by Charley Galombos, Dave McLaughlin and Charley German, bounced out to a 20-15 lead at the 10-minute mark. But the Eagles, led by Joe Kemp and Vince Terette, surged forward to take a 37-34 edge at the intermission.

Lock Haven was in command then until German pushed through two points to give the Warriors a 53-52 advantage.

From here on out the lead changed hands four times with the Warriors, for the most part, battling to overtake the visitors.

Deliberate Ball During the last three minutes, Lock Haven attempted to put on a freeze, playing deliberate ball hoping to get sure points. But the ever-present Warriors matched them point for point down the stretch and tied them with 20 seconds remaining, via Troutman's bucket.

But it wasn't in the cards for Reed's lads as the Eagles played for the one shot and Loud spinning off the foul line zipped it through.

Galombos topped the Warrior pointmakers with 21, trailed by McLaughlin's and German's 17 each, Kemp and Terette led Lock Haven with 16 apiece, followed by Len Martynuska's and Loud's 10 each.

Sosie Cope's 17-tally spree spearheaded ESSTC's jayvees to a 57-21 victory over Oxford (N.J.) Lions in the curtain raiser.

The varsity boxscore:

LOCK HAVEN FG. F. T. Pts. Kemp 10 10 12 20 Martynuska 8 8 10 16 Totals 18 18 22 40

Catty's Fast Break Tops Stroudsburg

IT TOOK Stroudsburg High 27 uphill minutes to overhaul Catsaqua, but it only took five for the Rough Riders to blow wide open the Lehigh Valley tilt and hand the Mountaineers a 69-56 setback in the West Main St. gym last night.

Down 12 to 14 points in the first half, the under-class dotted Mountaineers came roaring back to actually take a 48-45 lead before Catty's fast break split the Stroudsburg defense apart.

Minus their chief searing threat, Doug Shook, who was hospitalized with a virus attack, the Mountaineers of John Kupiec did more than alright in their uphill battle.

With junior Ted Williams, and sophomores Tom Gross and Dick Everitt leading the scoring way, the Mountaineers started back after Catty pulled out in front 27-13 in the second period.

With Everitt and Jim Welsh setting up the maneuvers and Gross and Williams working the boards, Stroudsburg cut the Catty deficit to 32-25 at halftime.

Really Move In the third period Kupiec's boys really got going and tied it 39-all when Gross dropped a doubleheader through. Seconds later, a Welsh layup sent the Mountaineers out in front 42-40.

However, Catty, with Rick Petro dunking in two, regained the lead before Williams' pusher and hook shot gave Stroudsburg a 48-45 spread.

Catty Takes Over This is where the Catty speed took over, scoring 12 straight points while holding Stroudsburg pointless. From here, 57-58, it was practically over for the Mountaineers.

Williams led the locals with 14 markers, followed by Gross who was making his first varsity start with 11 and Everitt with nine.

Petro paced the Rough Riders with 25, trailed by Barry Steckel's 23.

In the preliminary, Stroudsburg High's junior varsity went down swinging to the Little Rough Riders, 62-33.

Missing Jockeys Are Found Safe MIAMI, Fla., Feb. 19 (AP)—Jockeys Logan Batcheller and Walter Williams were found by a Coast Guard search plane on the wild southwest tip of Florida today, 24 hours after they were reported missing after going fishing in the area.

The Coast Guard said they had anchored their 16-foot outboard motor boat near the mouth of Sabie Creek on Cape Sable and appeared to be all right. A boat was dispatched from a ranger station to pick them up.

Delaware High Rips Damascus For 13th Win DAMASCUS — Delaware Valley High School of Milford captured its 13th game in 15 starts last night, overpowering Damascus 75-60, despite the fine individual efforts of Ed Welk, the home club's brilliant center.

Welk scored 34 points on 16 field goals and two fouls, but his showing was not enough to cope with the coordinated team play of the visitors.

Brigham Nets 28 Four of the five Milford starters tallied in the double figures, Satch Brigham pacing the attack with 28 points. Delaware Valley led all the way as they handed Damascus its 11th defeat against only one victory.

Delaware travels to Harford on Friday night to meet Mountainview High.

Yanks Get Ditmar, Shantz In 13-Player Deal With A's

Morgan, Noren, McDermott In New York Package To KC

NEW YORK, Feb. 19 (AP)—The New York Yankees, already heavily favored to retain their American League championship in 1957, today obtained pitchers Art Ditmar and Bobby Shantz from Kansas City and gave up seven players in the biggest baseball deal in more than two years.

The Yankees also acquired infielder Wayne Belardi and southpaw pitcher Jack McMahan, both of whom were assigned to Denver, the Yanks' farm team in the American Association.

In return, the Athletics received pitchers Maurice McDermott, Rip Coleman and Tom Morgan, outfielder Irv Noren and infielders Billy Hunter and Milt Graff. Another player is to be assigned to Kansas City by April 15.

Infielder Cletis Boyer, a bonus player, originally was included in the trade. But it was later determined that bonus players cannot be released or traded until their bonus period is up. Boyer was signed by the A's on May 30, 1955 and therefore cannot be disposed of until May 31 of this year.

A Yankee spokesman said in place of Boyer the world champions would receive another player by the June 15 trading deadline. He did not rule out the possibility that Boyer might be that player.

In announcing the 13-player transaction at a noon press conference, Yankee General Manager George Weiss beamed. "This is a good deal for us. Ditmar is the ace of the deal as far as we are concerned."

Largest Since '54

The trade was the largest in the majors since Nov. 18, 1954 when the Bombers picked up Don Larsen and Bob Turley, among others, in a 17-player swap with the Baltimore Orioles. The Orioles got nine players and New York eight.

"Ditmar has always gone well against Cleveland and other top clubs," said Weiss. "Shantz should help us in relief. We really haven't had a good left-handed relief pitcher since Joe Page."

Ditmar, a righthander, won 12 games and lost 22 for the A's last season.

Big Improvement

In Kansas City, President Arnold Johnson of the Athletics called the trade "the most important since the Athletics were transferred from Philadelphia."

He said the move "changes the entire complexion of our club, giving us a badly needed second baseman, a colorful shortstop who will contest Joe DeMaestri for the job and adds to the pitching staff where strength has been lacking."

When told of the deal in St. Petersburg, Fla., Yankee manager Casey Stengel said "Kansas City got a better club by making this trade. They got a double play combination in Graff and Hunter and three experienced pitchers. As far as we're concerned everything depends on Shantz. If his arm comes through I've got a good deal. If not, I'm hooked."

Tough Competition

The six players added to the A's roster should make "the competition for jobs a lot tougher," Stengel said. "Manager Lou Boudreau at his home in Harvey, Ill. 'I think this fact in itself will help us.'"

"We had to give up quite a bit to get these players, but we believe that they are worth it," Boudreau said.

"I think we have definitely improved our pitching," Boudreau said. "To me Morgan is the untried hero of the whole thing. He's only 26 and his full potential hasn't yet been reached."

Bunning Has To Fight For Detroit Job

By JACK HAND

HAVANA, Feb. 19 (AP)—Imagine a 27-game winner fighting for a job? That's the case of Jim Bunning who soon will report to Detroit, gunning for a starting role on Manager Jack Tighe's staff.

Bunning was an outstanding pitcher in the Cuban Winter League, the ace of the Marianao Tigers who won the pennant and then romped to the Caribbean Series championship.

The lanky righthander (6-3, 180) won 14 last season, nine in the minors at Charleston of the American Assn. and five with Detroit. Then he switched to Cuba where he hung up an 11-5 record. Two more victories in the Caribbean Series made it a total of 27 won.

Hopes To Prove

"I hope to prove to Jack that I can start," he said. "I played under Jack at Buffalo and of course, he was coach with the Tigers the last two years. I think he'll give me a shot."

"Everybody likes to start but if I can help the club, I really don't care whether I start or relieve. The main thing is to beat those Yankees."

"We think we have a very good chance, especially if that Jim Finigan deal works out and if the young pitchers like Duke Maas and I come through."

Bunning had a 5-4 record with Detroit last year in 15 games. He started three times but failed to last, once going 8 2-3 innings.

Dark 3-Stroke Leader In Golf

LAKE WORTH, Fla., Feb. 19 (AP)—Alvin Dark of the St. Louis Cardinals held an eight stroke lead today after the second round of the 54-hole Cavalade of Champions golf tournament.

He fired a 73 to go with the 71 he carded yesterday. Lou Kretlow of the Athletics held second after a one-over-par 71, which with his score of 81 gave him a 36-hole total of 152.

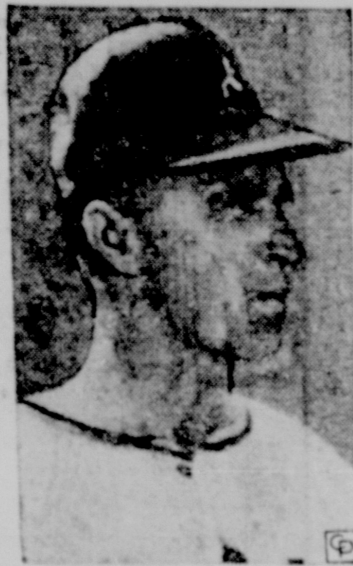

Art Ditmar missed a 3-foot putt after he heard Kansas City had traded him to the Yankees.

George Sisler Is Satisfactory

PITTSBURGH, Feb. 19 (AP)—George Sisler, 63, baseball Hall of Fame first baseman, was reported in "very satisfactory" condition today after undergoing abdominal surgery Saturday night.

A spokesman for the Pittsburgh Pirates, with which Sisler now is special assistant to the field manager, said doctors are "well pleased" with the recovery Sisler is making.

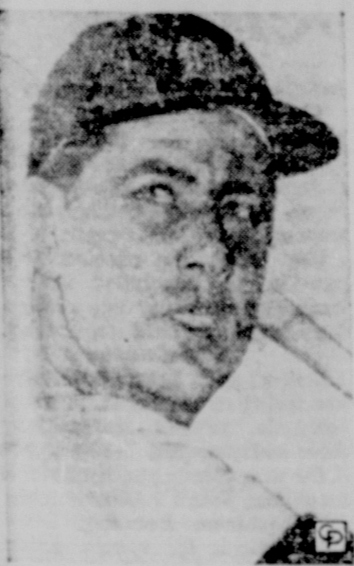

Sisler was chief scout for the Pirates until two months ago when he was named special assistant to help instruct players in batting.

Tarheels Still On Top Perch In AP Poll; Jayhawks Second

By The Associated Press

COLLECTING 62 PER CENT of the first place votes, North Carolina's unbeaten Tar Heels remained the top club in the Associated Press weekly college basketball poll Tuesday with the Kansas Jayhawks a close second.

Winners of 20 games in a row, the Tar Heels picked up 805 points on the usual basis of 10 for first place, 9 for second etc. The national sports writers and sportscasters gave Kansas 17 firsts and 756 points.

The Jayhawks, who lifted their season's mark to 17-1 by beating Oklahoma Monday night, had 48 second place votes to 17 for North Carolina. Kansas next takes on Oklahoma A&M Thursday night. They beat the Aggies 62-52 on Feb. 12.

Wildcats 3rd

Kentucky, which squeezed past Vanderbilt 89-78 Monday night, held on to third place with 474 points. The Wildcats are followed by Seattle, Bradley and Southern Methodist. The balloting was based on games through Saturday, Feb. 16.

Louisville's Cardinals moved up a notch to seventh place and dropped UCLA to eighth. Iowa State and Vanderbilt round out the first ten. Vandy was tied for the No. 15 position a week ago.

The second ten: Indiana, Wake Forest, Oklahoma City, West Virginia, California, Duke, Kansas State, West Virginia Tech, Mississippi State, Memphis State.

Valdes Stops British King

LONDON, Feb. 19 (AP)—Big Nino Valdes of Cuba tonight stopped Joe Erskine, British heavyweight champion, in 2:05 of the first round of their ten-rounder at Earl's Court Stadium. Valdes weighed 267½, Erskine 196½.

Fight To Draw

TOKYO, Feb. 19 (AP)—Hitoshi Mtsako, high-ranking Japanese flyweight, was held to a draw tonight by Masaji Iwamoto, Japanese champion, in a non-title 12-round bout.

Cowboy Actor Johnny Mack Brown Among 11 Elected To National Football Hall Of Fame

NEW BRUNSWICK, N. J., Feb. 19 (AP)—Eleven former football stars including cowboy movie hero Johnny Mack Brown of Alabama, Ken Strong of New York University, George Pfann of Cornell and Ernie Pinckert of Southern California, have been elected to the National Football Hall of Fame.

Other greats of the Walter Camp era (1889-1924) and the modern period (graduated at least 10 years) named today to the Hall included the late Marshall Newell, Harvard tackle (1890-92); the late Hunter Carpenter, Virginia Polytechnic back (1900-05); Peter Mauthe, Penn State back (1909-12); Ira (Back) Rodgers, West Virginia back (1913-19); William Corbush, Stanford guard (1922-23); J. A. C. Weller, Princeton guard (1923-25); and Dick Widung, Minnesota tackle (1940-42).

The latest choices were made on the basis of voting by the Hall of Fame's membership, recommendation by coaches, athletic directors, fellow players and sports writers, and nominations to All-America teams.

Four colleges—Penn State, West Virginia, NYU, and Virginia Tech—gained their first representatives in the hall.

Brown, a halfback, is Alabama's third representative. He starred in Alabama's 20-19 victory over Washington in the Rose Bowl in 1929.

Strong, an All-America and triple threat in 1928, was the nation's highest scorer in 1928 with 153 points. A standout punter and placekicker, he later starred in pro ball with the New York Giants.

Pfann, an attorney and trustee of his alma mater now, was an All-America quarterback in 1925. He became the second Cornellian to make the hall.

Mauthe, now president of a steel company in Youngstown, Ohio, is one of Penn State's all-time greats. Rodgers, current golf coach at West Virginia, was a triple threat back who led the nation in scoring in 1919 with 147 points. He captained the varsity baseball, basketball and football teams in his senior year.

Elections to the hall were first held in 1951. Yale tops the list with nine representatives followed by Harvard six, Michigan, Minnesota and Princeton, five each; Stanford and Army four each; and Pennsylvania, Notre Dame, Alabama, Southern California and Chicago three each.

was made today by Bill Cunningham of Boston, chairman of the Honors Court. A total of 119 players from 57 colleges now have been enshrined at the hall, located on the Rutgers University campus here.

The West Jordan, Utah, husky was an easy winner. He received 83 first place votes and 288 points on a 3-2-1 basis to outstrip runner-up Bob Cousy, star of the pro basketball Boston Celtics.

Fullmer, who won the world middleweight title from Sugar Ray Robinson, Jan. 2, today was named winner of the January award in the S. Rae Hickok pro athlete of the year poll.

He said he had decided on Houston without being asked by Hal Lahr, Colgate coach who also will be going to Houston next fall.

IN WINTER--BEWARE!

Short days, long nights, pile up traffic tragedies. Watch your winter driving!

BACK THE ATTACK ON TRAFFIC ACCIDENTS

Winter—with its slippery roads, its sudden changes in weather—is the most dangerous season of the year for motorists and pedestrians.

Over 40,000 men, women and children were killed in traffic accidents last year... many in accidents caused by winter conditions.

Specially in winter—drive with care! And do this to help save your life:

- ☐ Check your brakes—Use them carefully on slick roads.
- ☐ Check your windshield wipers—Get new ones if they streak.
- ☐ Check your headlights—Have them properly adjusted.
- ☐ Check your tires—Have good tires and use tire chains when needed on snow or ice.
- ☐ Check your speed—Observe speed limits and be extra careful of winter road conditions.
- ☐ Check your distance—Stay well behind the car ahead.

Drive safely and courteously. Observe speed limits and warning signs. Where traffic laws are obeyed, deaths go DOWN!

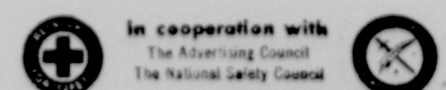

Insist on strict enforcement of all traffic laws. Traffic regulations work for you, not against you.

Where traffic laws are strictly enforced and obeyed, deaths go DOWN!

"Quit Your Skiddin'" tells what you can do to prevent winter traffic accidents. Write to: Dept. W, National Safety Council, 425 North Michigan Avenue, Chicago 11, Ill. for this free booklet.

Father Galligan Finds Joy In Serving God As Catholic Priest

EDITOR'S NOTE: This is Brotherhood Week. Therefore, The Daily Record is presenting a series of four articles in the hope they will create a greater sense of brotherhood and good-will. This, the third article, deals with the life and work of a typical Catholic priest.

By Paul Carlson

THE long-awaited moment had arrived for E. Robert Galligan and 10 other seminarians to receive the powers of the priesthood through the Sacrament of Holy Orders. The date was June 7, 1952 when this clean-cut young fellow appeared before the late Bishop William J. Haffey to be ordained. The Cathedral in Scranton was filled to capacity as relatives and friends witnessed the impressive rites. Henceforth, he would be known as "Father." To the faithful, it meant he had the power to begin the life of God in the soul at Baptism, to wash the soul in the confessional, to officiate at the Sacrament of Matrimony, to strengthen the dying with Extreme Unction.

Moreover, it meant he had the authority to preach the truths of Christ to all.

Finally, it meant he possessed the most cherished power to offer the Holy Sacrifice of the Mass and, according to Catholic teaching, actually change bread and wine into Christ's Body and Blood.

The taking of Holy Orders means much, not only to the ordained, but to his loved ones as well.

"The sentiments at the hour of ordination are hard to put into words," Father Galligan reflected. "It is a supernatural experience, but we may feebly say it is one of awe, unworthiness, conviction, but, most of all, joy."

For the last five years, this Scranton-born priest has been assigned to both Stroudsburg and the Pocono Catholic missions, the latter made up of six churches with the Rt. Rev. Msgr. C. A. McHugh as pastor.

Father Galligan, who concentrates his efforts on the Brodheadville, Tannersville, and Mount Pocono parishes, is actually one of eight priests who serve at the 13 churches in the Monroe County area.

In this capacity, he is typical of countless other parish priests.

Therefore, Father Galligan was asked just why he decided to enter seminary and become a priest.

"Usually the ones who ask are those who wonder why a young man gives up the joys of marriage to devote himself to a life of sacrifice for others," he replied. "The only valid answer is that through the loving and powerful grace of God, I am a Catholic priest."

However, Father Galligan observed that God used people, places, things and circumstances as instruments of His grace.

"Perhaps the most interesting and humbling reflection is the rebellious clay of self upon which God worked," he added.

On one point, Father Galligan was particularly emphatic: He did not become a priest to please his parents, nor did they urge him to take Holy Orders.

Father Galligan was the oldest—and only son—among four children.

"In our home the ultimate virtue of religion, the sweet bond of love, was not preached—but lived," he said. "My parents did not even attempt to even suggest the vocation I should follow, since they knew this was a decision to be made by the child without coercion."

"But they wisely maintained the atmosphere for a mature decision to any career by the example of virtuous home life, faithful religious observance, and insistence on the diligent pursuit of a parochial school education," he continued.

Incidentally, Father Galligan voiced his own idea as to why there is a lack of discipline in the schools today.

"The parents defend the child rather than the teacher," he said. But not so in the boyhood home of Father Galligan.

"I was in the fifth grade when the sister slapped me for misbehavior," he confided. "I came home looking for sympathy, telling my mother of the terrible blow the sister had given to her little son."

But that turned out to be an unwise move.

"I got slapped again—this time by my mother," he explained. "My mother said I must have deserved it if the sister hit me. They never had disciplinary trouble with me again."

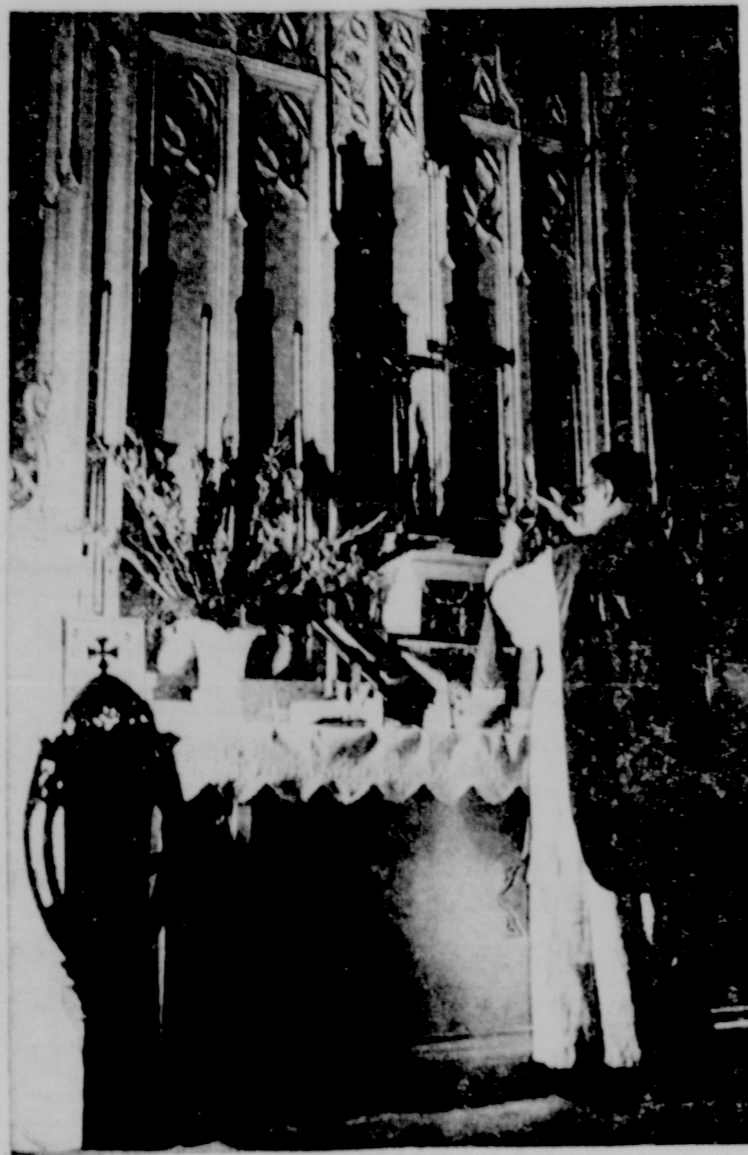

Father Galligan remembered that he was in seventh or eighth grade when he first thought about the priesthood.

"I guess it was the pious and joyful example of the sisters and priests in our parish that started me thinking," he said. Then he laughed: "And I guess it was the twinkling eye of some girl classmate that caused me to banish the thought quite quickly."

Throughout high school, the future priest didn't give too much thought to his life's work. He was caught up in a whirl of study, dances, basketball, football and picnics like any other teen-ager. Besides, he worked part-time in a grocery store.

"I can remember friends visiting our home and casually asking what I was going to be," he related. "My father would humorously remark, 'At the present rate, he is destined to be an outstanding playboy.'"

However, serious impressions were being made by the future priest during those years. Father

FATHER E. ROBERT GALLIGAN still breathes "My Lord and my God" at the elevation of the Mass he offers each day. "It is very easy to know that it is Christ Himself who rests in my hands," he says, "but it is difficult to realize they are really my hands. For, you see, I am still unworthy." (Staff Photo by MacLeod)

Galligan puts it this way:

"During the Holy Sacrifice of the Mass which we attended at the start of each school day, I could not help myself from thinking what a tremendous thing was happening before my very eyes."

"A man with special power was actually changing bread and wine into Christ's Body and Blood, just like Christ at the Last Supper. At the most solemn time of the Mass, the Consecration, my eyes were glued on the Altar looking at how the priest did this. When he would elevate the Host and Chalice, I would say with all my heart, 'My Lord and my God.'"

"Almost simultaneously, I would be thinking, 'Someday... if only I could do this tremendous thing... But I am not worthy and, besides, I don't want to make the sacrifices to be a priest.'"

"When Our Lord was intimately united to me in Holy Communion," he continued, "my prayer was to be able to someday follow Him completely—but not now."

It was at the beginning of his senior year that Father Galligan decided to be a priest. He even worked part-time in a dental lab to learn how to make false teeth.

"Today," he said, "I'm positive I would have been a terrible dentist."

Then, midway through the senior year, a chaplain in the Armed Forces dropped into the school. During his visit, he mentioned the need for priests in the services and throughout the world.

That visit started young Robert Galligan to seriously thinking about the priesthood. He looked into the requirements for seminary and the intensive training to be taken there.

"Then I didn't only feel myself unworthy of the powers of the with my friends before I had to finally decide about entering the two more years in my home and to lead the social life of an ordinary collegian so I never told anyone but my family and teachers what I intended to do."

But he set about studying hard and prayed that he would be fit to be accepted by a seminary and that his mind would be resolved about entering. Moreover, he worked as a part-time janitor and grocery clerk to get through the two years of pre-theological studies.

"I also wanted a taste of priestly work so I volunteered to help a priest who had a recreation center in a poor section of town," he continued. "I used to teach the boys boxing and religion."

"One night," he chuckled, "I almost got my nose broken teaching one of the bigger boys—boxing, of course."

"Teaching religion wasn't as dangerous."

It was while he was teaching these youngsters that Father Galligan developed "a burning desire" to impart the teachings of Christ.

"It was evident to me that Christ had died on the Cross for what He taught and now this treasury was dispersed through the Church," he said. "Someday I knew I must have no other occupation but bringing souls to the knowledge of this eternally-important truth that Christ died to bring all men to heaven through His Church."

Finishing his college work, Father Galligan presented himself to the bishop, preparatory to being accepted as a student for the Scranton Diocese. A short time later, he received word that he had been assigned to study at Mount Saint Mary's Seminary in Emmitsburg, Md.

Then began the six-year discipline of rising at 5:40 every morning and retiring at 10 p.m.

"Roughly," he explained, "our day was divided into four hours of prayer, eight or nine hours of study and classes, and two hours of recreation."

"The importance of the Rule of Silence outside recreation was emphasized to give our souls greater opportunity to commune with God," he said. "It was in this holy and silent atmosphere that God introduced me to the joys He grants to those who seek Him in the silence of their soul."

Band Mothers To Open Uniform Bids

EAST Stroudsburg's school band uniform committee announced last night the names of local firms which will submit bids to provide uniforms purchased through the committee's fund drive.

The committee asked all those interested in bidding to attend a special meeting this week. Five local firms responded.

According to Mrs. Howard Kintner, a member of the committee, they were J. C. Penney Co., Wyckoff's, and DeVivo-Quaresimo and Sons, all of Stroudsburg; Don Heller and Raymond Mansfield, Tallor, both of East Stroudsburg.

Schedule

Committee members announced that bids will be opened from the firms on the following schedule:

March 18—8 p. m., from Mansfield; 8:30, Penney's; 9 p. m., DeVivo's.

March 25—8 p. m., Don Heller; 8:30, Wyckoff's.

The committee will purchase 100 band uniforms and eight uniforms for majorettes. Specifications for bidding were explained in the open meeting at the high school band room this week.

tion that whatever sacrifices were demanded they were very little in comparison to the unspeakable powers and joys of the priesthood," he continued.

"I no longer was unwilling to make the sacrifices to be a priest," he added. "I knew they were nothing in comparison with its joys—but I was still unworthy."
